

How to Steal $30 Million, Screw the IRS and Cheat Your Family!

FAMILY FRAUD began with a forged signature.

JOHN D. SMITH,
individually and as trustee

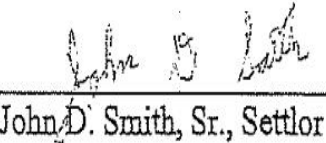

This is Dad’s signature on his December 14, 1998 Trust. His 1998 Trust named First National Bank of Chicago Trustee and divided his $30 Million Estate: half went to his wife and the remaining half split equally between his 5 adult children.

JOHN D. SMITH, SR.

This scrawled signature was made on a Will dated August 5, 2013, 16 days before his death 8/21/13.

John D. Smith, Sr., Settlor

This “signature” was made on an “Amended” August 5, 2013 Trust when Dad was “not making sense.”

The “Amended” Trust was then destroyed to hide the Forgery.

The up-slant and gaps in the writing lines are “writing transfer,” which is made by scanning a signature and copying it into a document. Welcome to Family Fraud! The idea that Dad waited until he was “not making any sense” according to mother, and “not lucid” according to sister Karen to change his 1998 Trust and did so without a lawyer of his choosing or his First National Bank of Chicago Trustee present is wrong.
